Alumni Spotlight: Linda Berry Stein '69

On Friday, December 7, JU announced the naming of the Linda Berry Stein College of Fine Arts in recognition of a multi-year, multi-million-dollar gift, among the largest investments in the University's 84-year history, from alumna Linda Berry Stein '69 and her husband, David Stein.

"I came to JU as a young woman looking to build my future. My mother and father believed in a strong education and always supported my passions," said Linda Berry Stein '69. "I earned scholarships, worked hard, studied, pursued a music degree and made lifelong friends here. To have this opportunity to reinvest in my alma mater, my home away from home, and our talented students fills my heart. It is a joy for David and me to make this commitment to a place that means so much to us."

Campus Holiday Closures

The University will be closed for the holidays from Saturday, December 15, 2018 through Tuesday, January 1, 2019. We hope all of our alumni have a wonderful holiday season to close out 2018!

Anyone who wishes to support their alma mater, current and future Phins before the year's end can make a tax-deductible gift at www.ju.edu/give.

JU Alumni Savings (Just in time for the holidays!)

The Office of Alumni Programs and PerksConnect have teamed up to provide you with savings and discounts. You can save at thousands of retailers in your neighborhood and around the country. Retailers such as Wyndham Hotels, Samsung, Hertz/Avis Rental Cars, Disney Parks/Resorts, and Costco are just a small sampling of the partners that are offering you everyday savings.

Save on discounted gift cards, student debt support, and more. Additionally, you can buy now and pay over time on items like computers, home appliances, furniture and electronics with Zebit – all with 0% APR!

Faculty Spotlight: Exploring the World's Issues at JU Philosophy Slams

Should the voting age be lowered? Can an omniscient God respect your privacy? What is the nature of time? We are asking these questions this semester at JU's philosophy slams, which are open to students, faculty, alumni and community members.

GOLD Phin Hops & Headshots

Our latest GOLD Phin event in Jacksonville consisted of tacos, local brews, networking and the opportunity to take a professional portrait (hello new LinkedIn profile picture!) before participating in a career-focused panel discussion with a few of our successful alumni.

The GOLD Phin Committee has been hard at work growing the GOLD Phin Society, and we love to see successful, meaningful events like this as a result!
