Alexander Brest Gallery, Phillips Fine Arts Building, Jacksonville University

The ambitious Jacksonville University of today owes a tremendous debt of gratitude to the remarkable Dr. Frances Bartlett Kinne. Fran embodied our University motto, Fiat Lux - Let There Be Light, as she filled our world with light, joy, hope and courage. As we mourned her passing last year during the emergence of the pandemic, we are forever thankful for the precious time we shared, and for the unique wisdom and leadership she modeled for us all. "Legacy" is determined by the impact on the lives of others, and Fran's influence is immeasurable. Her legacy will extend through generations and around the globe for years to come — with a lasting challenge to each of us: to live life as well, for others, as she did for 102 memorable years. She has left an indelible mark on our university and will forever be in our hearts.

From the Dean

The Kinne Legacy is a labor of love. So many contributed in their own way to bring this extraordinary exhibition to the Alexander Brest Gallery. Dr. Kinne was deeply respected and admired. Our mission was to do Fran justice and to illustrate the story of her exceptional life for those who knew her well and to educate future generations. On behalf of all who brought the Kinne Legacy to life, I hope you enjoy this remarkable collection.

THE KINNE LEGACY Iowa Girl 1917 - 1942

The extraordinary life of Dr. Frances Bartlett Kinne began on May 23, 1917, in Story City, Iowa. Her father published Story City's newspaper, and her mother founded and ran the town library. From an early age, Fran showed a passion for learning and a talent for music. She was sharp, clever and an exceptional pianist, helping teach piano lessons as early as age 11 and working as a public school music teacher after graduating high school. She attended Iowa State Teachers College and Drake University, and when World War II broke out, she was the youngest teacher in the Des Moines Public Schools.

"The Middle West and specifically Iowa were right for me. Memories of my childhood are happy ones. I was a Depression child, and in Story City, no one had material wealth. But it was a time of loving family and friends, filled with music, music, music."

Uncle Sam Wants You 1942 – 1948

When World War II began, Fran was eager to put her wit and talent to good use for her country. She signed up as a U.S. Army Hostess at Camp Crowder in Missouri where she was in charge of providing entertainment for as many as 70,000 GIs. She met Col. Harry L. Kinne, and they were married in 1948.

"My responsibility as a hostess was to direct one of the three Service Clubs on post at Camp Crowder, Missouri. The uniform was an attractive suit in air blue, with a rainbow patch on the shoulder and a jaunty cap. The hostesses had the equivalent rank of a 2nd Lieutenant."

The Colonel's Lady 1948 - 1954

After the war, Fran lived abroad with Col. Kinne as he was assigned to posts in China, Japan and Germany. The experience helped shape her outlook and deepened her determination for decades to come. Ever the optimist, she learned to fit in with post-war communities and cultures that rejected the privileged American officers and diplomats who lived among them. While living abroad had its benefits, Fran and the colonel also missed life at home.

"Our three years in China and Japan had been life-enriching, but they had also brought many changes Stateside. Harry's mother had passed away, and his father had remarried. I had lost my father, and in a sense, we had a feeling the world had passed us by for those three years."

"I was fortunate to have been loved by two great men and to have been married to them." On December 12, 1992, Fran married Col. M. Worthington Bordley "Wordy" in a private ceremony at the home of Ash Verlander. Both Harry (Kinne) and Wordy had brilliant combat records - the former in Europe, the latter in the South Pacific in WWII and in Korea during the Korean War. Each of them had Presidential Citations and Bronze Stars with Oak Leaf Clusters, and Wordy had both a Silver Star and Purple Heart. The latter was awarded to him as a young officer in the 7th Cavalry Division fighting in the Solomon Islands.

Internationally recognized artist and Jacksonville University alumna Raquel Carreras Rodriguez draws and paints in watercolors, ink, acrylics, oils and mixed media. Her work has been showcased in numerous local establishments and in private collections in Florida and in Spain. Presently her style is contemporary impressionistic, although she executes abstract painting, abstract realism and coloristic interpretations. Forgotten Walls is one of her acrylic works on loan from the personal collection of Tim Cost '81 and Stephanie Cost.

WLPS

'Graduates' of the Wilma's Little People School regularly reached out to Dr. Fran Kinne with hugs of affection during their Leaving Ceremonies held outside the President's Office at Jacksonville University.

"Wilma's Little People School (WLPS) was established in 1973, under a different name, when Dr. Fran Kinne was Dean of Fine Arts. Dr. Kinne is remembered as a present and positive force in the life and progress of the on-campus preschool. She raved about the progress and looked the other way when still-damp paint rubbed off artwork and onto her new blue suit. How does WLPS say "thank you" to Dr. Frances Bartlett Kinne? Perhaps an underdone cake or a fingerpainted masterpiece? Certainly, WLPS sends much love and gratitude for her help over the past 47 years."

THE KINNE LEGACY New Eyes/New Careers 1958 - 1978

1958 – 1978 In 95%, Fran came to Jacksonville University as an Assistant Professor of Humanities for a one-month teaching assignment and found her home. For the next 62 years, she invested her time, talent and treasure to enrich the university and the local community. Her leadership, persistence and optimism would help shape Jacksonville University into what it is today. As a professor in 1961, she founded what is now the Linda Berry Stein College of Fine Arts, and in 1960, she was appointed its Dean, making her the first woman in the world to be named dean of a fine arts college. These accomplishments were only the beginning for Fran. Her list of "firsts" would grow over the years, but her focus was always on the students.

"The only reason we are here is because of the students."

TREASURES FROM THE KINNE MUSIC LIBRARY

Dr. Kinne's life-long passion for classical music is reflected in the breadth of her personal music library. Among the hundreds of scores and recordings in her collection are these autograph manuscripts, score fragments and correspondence from international musical figures of the 19th and 20th centuries.

German opera composer known for his works of French grand opera, which is characterized by elaborate sets, costumes and spectacle, Giacomo Meyerbeer dominated the Parisian opera scene from 1831 to his death. Presented here is an autograph RSVP to an unidentified recipient.

Honored Sir and Friend:

My sincerest thanks for your kind invitation. It will give me the greatest pleasure to attend this celebration, but, unfortunately, I have some company which will leave tomorrow, and who called on me today at noon. I must therefore forego the pleasure which you so graciously extended to me. Accept my sincerest regrets for being unable to accept your kindness for the invitation.

> Yours truly, Meyerbeer

The leading Italian opera composer of his generation and exponent of verismo, or operatic realism, Puccini's works are among the most frequently performed in the repertoire. Presented is an autograph thematic fragment of his most famous work, La Bohème.

Australian-American composer, pianist and conductor Percy Grainger was heavily influenced by English folk music. He is best remembered for his orchestral and wind band works, including Molly on the Shore, presented here in score fragment.

(1844 - 1908)

Russian nationalist composer Nikolai Rimsky-Korsakov was a member of The Five, a group of prominent 19th-century musicians whose works and promotion of Russian music shaped a national style of classical music that influenced generations of Russian and European composers. Presented here is an autograph musical quotation from the opera Snegurochka ("The Snow Maiden") signed and inscribed in Russian.

Spanish violin virtuoso, composer and conductor Pablo de Sarasate won international recognition as one of the greatest violinists for his purity of tone and brilliance of technique. He produced a number of compositions for violin, including folk songs, Spanish dances and the Jota de San Fernim for orchestra.

[Right] Ruggero Leoncavallo (1857-1919)

Italian opera composer and librettist known for his opera Pagliacci, Ruggero Leoncavallo published numerous collections of his songs and opera excerpts. Presented here is an inscription inside one such album dedicated to Wilhelm Jahn, director of the Vienna Court Opera from 1880 to 1897 and principal conductor of the Vienna Philharmonic Orchestra from 1882 to 1883.

To the celebrated Maestro Jahn, with all admiration for the great artist and gratitude to a charming and good friend.

As a sign of eternal devotion, R. Leoncavallo Vienna, November 21, 1893

The 7th Presidency of Jacksonville University 1979 — 1989 and Beyond

In 1979, Fran became the first female president of Jacksonville University and the first female university president in the state of Florida. In this role, she would establish what is now the Davis College of Business, the Keigwin School of Nursing into the School of Aviation. Fran retired as president in 1989 and was immediately elected to become the first Chancellor of Jacksonville University by the Board of Trustees. As her accomplishments grew, she remained ever gracious, kind and quick to encourage others. Whether presiding over JU, donating her time to her numerous community endeavors, or simply sharing a bench with a student, her eternal optimism and vision were apparent to all who knew her. Perhaps that's because she'd decided long ago to heed her parent's counsel and follow Albert Einstein's advice to the letter.

"There are only two ways to live your life. One is as though nothing is a miracle. The other is as though everything is a miracle." – Albert Einstein and Dr. Frances Bartlett Kinne

Dr. Frances Bartlett Kinne dedicated 62 years to serving Jacksonville University, its students and the community of Northeast Florida. She was a legendary educator, leader and visionary.

Our University would not be what it is today without her.

Your gift in memory of Dr. Kinne will ensure that her legacy of selfless service and support of others will live on at Jacksonville University.
